ACHIEVE YOUR AMBITIONS OF A SUCCESSFUL CAREER IN AUTOMOTIVE MANAGEMENT WITH IMI AWARDS

IMI Awards offer a range of Vocationally Related Qualifications (VRQs) and Vocationally Competence Qualifications (VCQs) in automotive management - from Level 3 to Level 5. These have been designed in consultation with experts from the sector to ensure our qualifications contain everything they need to help individuals prove their skills and competence within automotive management.

WHY CHOOSE AUTOMOTIVE MANAGEMENT?

Automotive management is very diverse and the need for high calibre management within automotive retail has never been so important. Therefore, IMI Awards qualifications cover a wide range of areas including Sales, After Sales, Parts, Body shops and Fleet Operations.

VOCATIONALLY RELATED QUALIFICATIONS (VRQS)

VRQs, or Vocationally Related Qualifications, are nationally recognised, vocationally-related qualifications which provide learners with the practical skills and essential knowledge needed to fulfil a role. These qualifications provide learners with a broad overview of the workplace, especially in areas such as organisational structures, departmental relationships, health and safety, and legal frameworks.

VOCATIONAL COMPETENCE QUALIFICATIONS (VCQS)

The VCQ, or Vocational Competence Qualification, is a nationally recognised qualification that demonstrates, to a national standard, competence in the workplace. VCQs are practically based and, to establish skill and proficiency, are assessed in the candidate’s place of work across a wide range of tasks and scenarios. Containing both mandatory and optional units, a VCQ provides flexibility across the various management roles within the automotive sector. The level of the VCQ (3 or 5) reflects the range of knowledge, skills and experiences (and therefore the competence), that is expected of an employee as they progress through automotive management.

ABOUT IMI AWARDS

IMI Awards management qualifications have been developed in conjunction with automotive management practitioners, dealers and training providers. As experts within the industry, they recognise the importance of preparing and equipping the automotive managers of the future; so you can rest assured, that once you have completed an IMI Award, you will have the skills and understanding for a successful career within automotive management.

The entire suite of IMI Awards management qualifications are all based on the Qualification and Credit Frameworks (QCF). Within the QCF each unit has been credited and levelled using two measurements; a credit value (typical hours) and a level. The credit value indicates the time that is expected to be spent on completing a unit and the level reflects the level of the qualification from Level 3 to Level 5.

HELPFUL HINT:

Within the QCF, a level is a higher level of Higher Education equivalent. This gives a measure of a candidate’s place of work across a wide range of tasks and scenarios. Containing both mandatory and optional units, a VCQ provides flexibility across the various management roles within the automotive sector. The level of the VCQ (3 or 5) reflects the range of knowledge, skills and experiences (and therefore the competence), that is expected of an employee as they progress through automotive management.

WHO ARE THEY SUITABLE FOR?

Most candidates will attend their IMI Awards centre on a day release basis to gain the qualification, or register with an IMI Awards approved centre on a day release basis to gain the qualification. A portfolio of evidence is gathered while working within the industry, who would like to enhance, or demonstrate, their understanding of their job role.
